Avoiding the Hospital

By closely monitoring your chronic medical conditions in your home, our providers are often able to manage the acute exacerbations of these chronic medical conditions with urgent home visits, helping to provide early diagnosis and along with effective and safe treatment modalities in the home, these exacerbations will not require treatment in the acute care setting (e.g. emergency room and hospitals).

Care Coordination

Our providers will communicate and coordinate your medical care with your primary care physician or specialist, along with other health care professionals (home health nurse, nurse case manager, pharmacist, physical therapist, caregiver, social worker, hospital discharge planner, etc.). This vital care coordination will also occur during transitions periods when you are transferring from hospital to home or vice versa.
